RAF Target Is Rebel Fort

Britain Keeps Up Its Drive To Stop Uprising in Oman

MANAMA, Bahrain (A) - The rebel-held fort at Nizwa, ancient capital of Oman, was the Royal Air Force's target for today as Britain kept up its jet-powered drive to put down an uprising against the Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

British jets firing rockets and machine guns flew twelve sorties against rebel tribesmen in the rugged desert region yesterday and claimed they gutted Ft. Izki, in the Wadi Halfin area.

Court Convicts Key Jap, Girard Witness

MAEBASHI, Japan (A-A Japanese court today convicted and fined one the key Japanese witnesses in the coming trial of Army Specialist 3.C. "illiam S. Girard. The Maebashi Summary Court found Hidetsugu Onozeki, 29-yearold farmer, guilty of slightly injuring Pfc. Wilbur R. Smith of Mound City, Mo., in a brawl June

The Japanese was fined 10,000 yen ($27.78), about what he makes a month

Girard is scheduled to go on trial Aug. 26 on a manslaughter charge growing out of the killing on a military firing range Jan. 30 of Mrs. Naka Sakai, who was colecting empty shell cases for scrap metal. Onozeki told police he saw Girard entice Mrs. Sakai onto the range before she was hit and killed by an empty cartridge case fired from Girard's grenade Girard's attorneys are expected o cite Onozeki's conviction in an effort to discredit his testimony.

It's now about time to begin making plans for your fall garden. Perhaps many of you haven't given much consideration to planting a fall garden but a fall garden can be one of your best if several essential practices are followed.

Generally speaking fall gardens should be started around the last week of July and the first week of August. Many fall vegetables need 60 to 80 days to reach edible maturity and must be planted during these two weeks or be subject to freeze damage before maturing.

For actual planting dates, refer to your copy of the Missouri Vegetable Planning and Planting Calendar. If you don't have a copy, you can get one upon request at your county extension office.

Here is a list of vegetables you can include in your fall garden: spinach, kale, chinese cabbage, colbroccoli, cauliflower, carbeets, turnips, mustard greens, leaf lettuce, radishes, endive, kohlrabi, green beans, and early varieties of sweet corn. Broccoli and cauliflower plants need to be set out around Aug. 1.

The reason why so many fall planted gardens never do amount to much is lack of moisture. Actually, the critical period in this respect is two to three weeks after sowing the seed. Moisture is necessary for seed germination. It's also necessary for the development of the young root system and survival of the small plant.

Too often, in the latter part of July and the first part of August temperatures are high and rainfall scarce. As a result, seeds never germinate and, if they do, chances are the seedlings will burn up.

If you have a supply of irrigation water available you can go a long way in reducing the efforts of drouth and high temperature on fall gardens. First of all, irrigate the fall garden several days before To the Usual Routine you plant your seeds. Irrigate the soil so that the moisture penetrates at least 10 to 12 inches thorities say Henry Carrington of Flea beetles, leaf hoppers, at the Army base. aphids, red spiders, worms of many types, and other insects can completely wipe out a young seedling row over-night. One tablespoon of methoxychlor and one of malathon - wettable powders only should give effective control.

One other suggestion-don't try to plant too much garden in the fall. Choose the vegetables you particularly like and plant only what you figure you can take care of with the amount of water available. A small garden well tended often outyields a larger garden poorly tended.

big things to consider in getting fast and efficient gains in hot weather. Natural shade, of course, is satisfactory but if a man is ground, sometimes the natural shade isn't available nor adequate. Temporary shade can be furnished terial such as old posts, wire, and some straw or hay. Eight to ten square feet of shade should be urnished per hog. As a result of more profitable. this, feed intake is reduced and rate of gain slows down. As temperatures rise there is also a steady increase in the rate of breathing. At temperatures of 60 to 70 de grees, respiration rate varies between 20 and 40 per minute. At 90 degrees and above, rates of 150 to 200 per minute are common. Only five more months 'til Christmas! Despite their unseasonableness, the words have a familiar ring.

Yuletide festivities are already in the planning stage although one hears little about them.

planning is the annual Christmas decorations in the business district. This is regularly under supervision of a Chamber of Commerce committee whose responsibility is to generate enthusiasm among the merchants to dress up buildings with appropriate lighting and other holiday adornment.

At one time streets in the main shopping district were festooned with colored lights, greenery, bells and replicas of Saint Nick. Wintry ice and wind storms frequently disarranged or broke down these decorations. This brought or a substitute method of having merchants string lights on the front of their buildings. The effect was much less than anticipated. In fact it was discouraging because of the spotty arrangements. Some places had too few lights, some none at all. Public reaction has been critical that a town the size of Sedalia doesn't dress up in the manner much smaller communities do at Christ-

Installing a new white way of steel poles, fluorescent fixtures and underground wiring is a formidable undertaking which requires time. Sedalians would be mighty happy if such an improvement could be made in time for Christmas 1957.

Before fixtures are ordered the merchants should take interest in learning whether the standards might be equipped with some auxiliary outlets or other utility features of such flexible nature they may be used to implement an improved Christmas lighting scheme for

If steel poles of the new white-way system can be made adaptable for use also in extra Christmas lighting and decorations, it seems the part of economy to plan for it before rather than after the standards are installed.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike's Generals Cling To Their Rank

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON - When President Eisenhower appoints military men to high office, he seems to have a propensity for appointing the wrong man to the wrong place at the wrong time.

His first military appointee, West Point classmate Gen. Joseph Swing as commissioner of immigration, became famous for using government automobiles to go hunting in Mexico, using his personal, privileged position to obtain a Mexican maid at low wages, and using government airplanes for political purposes.

On top of this, Gen. Herbert D. Vogel, appointed to be chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, has proved himself a prima donna reminiscent of the days when Washington fought over the question of whether Dolly Gann, halfsister of Vice-President Curtis, should be seated at dinner ahead of Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of the speaker.

Invited to attend a dinner by the junior order of mechanics honoring AFL-CIO President George Meany last month, General Vogel refused to go in to the dinner because he wasn't seated at the head table.

General Vogel found himself seated with a group of distinguished industrialists and labor leaders, but this did not please him. He actually threatened to leave.

Finally, it was learned that Congressman Howard Baker of Tennessee would not be able to attend because of a death in his family, and to keep the peace, General Vogel was waltzed up to the speaker's table to take Baker's place. More TVA Trouble

Again, the General was invited to a meeting of the Delta Council in Cleveland, Miss. Speakers at the meeting were Harvey Firestone, head of the well-known rubber company of that name, and Chief of Army Engineers Maj. Gen. E. C.

Once again, when Vogel was not invited to sit at the speaker's rostrum, he refused to attend the meeting.

General Vogel milled around outside, showing his disgust for the activities, then drove back to Knoxville.

On another occasion, President Diem of the friendly country of Viet-Nam, was visiting the Tennessee Valley. General Vogel conducted President Diem on the tour, but, returning back to Knoxville, the General switched the motorcade through residential Knoxville so he could stop off at his home. The General got off, left the motorcade, sent the President on to his

It is strict protocol that a foreign visitor be delivered to his destination before the American host leaves the entourage. State Department officials were red-faced, but found it impossible to give orders to the grandstanding general whom Ike appointed head of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Note-Eisenhower now faces trouble with another appointee to the TVA-Arnold R. Jones. Senators probing Jones's background have found that he accepted fees as a lawyer while supposedly serving the people of Kansas on the State Corporation Commission. Since Eisenhower has appointed more conflict-of-interest officials than any other president, it's a safe bet

TAMPA (Fla.) TRIBUNE: No Time For Husbands. Out in Chicago some women have a peculiar perspective on husbands and as to what a man is really worth. We have that conclusion after reading that a superior court judge granted a 22-year-old wife a divorce because her husband became angry when she stayed up late to watch TV shows. When the judge asked the wife if her husband didn't mean more to her than the TV set, she replied, "Definitely not.

The old gag is that a man prefers a radio to a wife because he can turn the radio off. But the Chicago switch is that a husband is only one man for a' that-and a TV set can offer a woman George Gobel, Steve Allen, Jackie Gleason, Perry Como and Ed Sullivan, with Mickey Mouse and Wyatt Earp thrown in to satisfy any feminine whim.

What mere husband can compete with such talent emerging from the picture tube? But what wife ever got a new dress or the morning bacon out of a TV set?

One of the reasons nothing much was done was because of the possibility the white-way lighting in the downtown area would be changed. This has been in the planning stage for a long time and likely will be promptly accomplished One program which requires advance after renewal of the Missouri Public Service Company franchise which comes up for a vote of the people within the next six weeks.

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (A) - Southern Democrats can thank the Eisenhower administration for a big assist in shooting the President's civil rights bill to pieces. Eisenhower and Atty. Gen. Brownell do. both contributed.

Eisenhower helped the Southerners' complaint that the bill was full of hidden gimmicks by saying, just before it came up in the Senate, there were some things in it he didn't understand himself.

That was on July 3, one day after a savage Southern attack on the bill as "cunning and evious." All year until then he had been calling it "moderate and decent."

Mrs. Sterling P. Wheeler, 909 South Vermont - It was quite surprise to see the picture of "Hitler," the cat, on the front page of the Democrat. You see, that cat originally belonged to my family at that address, 1018 East into camp at the Missouri State Ninth St. My father, Dave Short, brought the cat home in 1941 at the age of six weeks. Mother and my three sisters promptly dubbed him "Hitler." Never was a cat so loved and so spoiled.

When my mother passed away in 1952 my husband and I were living on a farm seven miles from town. We took "Hitler" with us but he only stayed a week and then went home. A few months later Dad sold the house and we took the cat again. Then we were living in town. "Hitler" promptly went home again. This time we left him there.

Since then my father has also passed away, my sisters who were alone. all married several years ago have moved from Sedalia. So you see it is rather like seeing a ghost of the Short family on the front page of the Democrat Tuesday.

Incidentally I have two sons-Robert and Jimmie-carrying the Sedalia Democrat.

> Does this sound like the ideal mother-in-law, one any girl would be lucky to get?

> If your first answer is "Yes," think again. She is trying to force and buy love and gratitude. For every gift she gives, she is sure to expect an "Aren't you wonder> ful" response. And with every gift she is saying, "You simply have to love me. We've got to be as close as my son and I have been. If you want anything less, you will be a most ungrateful girl."

> And that isn't likely to win any mother-in-law the easy, affectionate relationship with her daughterin-law that she would like to have.

A wise mother-in-law won't try to force affection from her son's wife. She won't force gratitude from her with an over-abundance of giving. She won't seem so eager to be liked and accepted that she makes the daughter-in-law feel uneasy, uncomfortable and trapped.

Friendship with a daughter-inlaw is won the same way that friendship with anyone is won-by liking, by admiration, by acceptance and patience. And, of course, by a certain amount of letting Most women want to be liked by their daughters-in-law. But the ones who have the best chance of it aren't the ones who force the issue. Being content to let affection grow gradually is the safe and sensible course.

Leaders Comment On UN Permanent Police

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON - More and more members of Congress, concerned with the conduct of American foreign policy are saying "the United Nations must have a permanent police force." Here are what a few told this correspondent in just one afternoon.

Conservative but ardent internationalist Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) on Foreign Relations Committee: "The United Nations lacks effectiveness unless an available Armed Force is provided

Graham Talks To a Small Garden Crowd

NEW YORK P - Billy Graham says Christians shouldn't compare themselves with others when trying to gauge their chances of reaching heaven.

"Don't compare yourself with others. That's a sin. That'll lead you to hell," the evangelist said last night in his crusade sermon at Madison Square Garden. 'Compare yourself with Jesus Christ," Graham said, "and then fall on your knees and ask forgiveness for your sins." When God is deciding who is or is not to enter heaven, he said, "He doesn't compare you with your neighbor. The only person He compares you with is Jesus "God says that no proud or selfrighteous man can enter heaven. You'll never walk into heaven with your head reared back in a show in humility and self-effacement. . . in admission of your sins," the evangelist said. Graham said the external appearances of Christianity are not enough for God, "God doesn't look on the outside. He looks on the

of pride. You must come to God inside," he added. The fault of most Christians, Graham said, is "the sin of ego, the sin of self, the sin of 'I.' " He said that Jesus Christ himself said that the self-righteous would not follow him to eternal salvation.

The evangelist drew another relatively small crowd at last night's meeting when an estimated 14,500 turned out, 500 less than the previous night. The arena's capacity is 19,200. The smallest turnout in the 11-week crusade occurred May 16 when 13,500 persons attended.

Graham said he wasn't discouraged by the dwindling crowd, because the decision last Friday to extend the crusade to Aug. 10 did not allow sufficient time to spread word of the extension. Total crusade attendance is 1.232 .-

A total of 349 persons came forward last night to make "decisions for Christ," boosting the over-all figure of such decisions to 37,811.

Rhodes Scholar Robert Hale (R-Me.): "I introduced a resolution calling for a UN police force back on May 2nd but I recognize the problems presented in a permanent military establishment where recruits speak different languages. where the three services (Army, Navy, Air Force) must be equal and promotions difficult. The Suez crisis benefitted from the use of a temporary UN force. Senator Alexander Wiley (R-Wis) ranking GOP member on Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "This matter is so important that it should be thoroughly studied if a moderate, effective police force is to be established. I think of such an armed force as a fire department to put out localized fires. The major advantage of a permanent police force is that it could move quickly before a small fire became a world blaze.

Senator "Pat" McNamara (D. Mich.): "The usefulness of a military force is obvious but how the troops would be constituted as to various countries in the United Nations and who would pay the cost involved presents two of the problems. There is also the danger that a permanent police force might become Communistic and do more harm than good."

Congressman George Meador (R-Mich.): "Before a military function is added to the United Nations there must be agreement on a law to govern how it is set up and for what purpose to be used.'

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.

When we sit for a portrait we wonder what the picture will look like. We have seen ourselves in the mirror, but a portrait is different. The artist looks beyond the mere physical being. He catches some vistas from the soul and from the character of the subject.

Sometimes we wonder what an artist in Heaven would paint if he were to make a portrait of our souls bereft of human form. Would our souls be beautiful or gnarled? Would they be colorful, or would they be mere sketches of a skeletal framework?

Our souls could be more interesting than we have made them. They probably take on more color as they are used to serve God and

They probably have the form of their surroundings. Their breadth must be determined by their contact with God and the setting in which they worship. Let us seek to add attractiveness to our souls.

Burns Curious Spectators

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (A) - Hundreds of curious spectators watched for nearly an hour while rescuers tried to free an injured driver's helper from the battered cab of a trailer-truck last night. Then, at least 50 of them were burned as the truck's exploding gas tank showered them with flaming gasoline.

The injured onlookers fled. So the rescuers, leaving the truckman dangling helplessly head downward from the cab window. All but his legs had been freed prior to the blast.

From a distance, a fireman played a hose on the trucker, Wilfred Godfrey, 35. of Hartford, Witnesses said this action probably saved his life.

The fire was extinguished in about a minute. Godfrey, who had been given an anesthetic earlier to ease his pain, was pulled from the wreckage three minutes later. He was suffering from extensive body burns and was reported in critical condition at a hospital.

Godfrey was trapped in the cab when the truck stopped short to avoid a dog. The truck's cargo, a smaller truck, snapped its bonds and rolled forward, bashing in the rear of the cab.

The driver, Underwood Woodford, 59, also of Hartford, was pulled from the wreckage minutes after the crash with minor in-

Police said the gasoline exploded with a hissing whoosh. Orange flames mushroomed 25 feet in the

A brief panic broke out among the spectators nearest the truck. Some fled screaming. Others stumbled in their haste. Police later found 20 pairs of shoes and several pairs of eyeglasses and pocketbooks on the street.

All but three of the fleeing bystanders were treated at hospitals for minor burns and injuries and released. The three, a 43-year-old man and two 10-year-old girls, were admitted with burns of the hands, arms and legs.

He is busy trying to locate some of the old ball players to visit with them as well as other old friends.

Ability Doesn't Count

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (P)-A couple of oilmen say they'll enter a pet lion in the Texas International Fishing Tournament next week. F. J. Reed and Charles Hipp, Graham, Tex., told tournament director Bob Meade yesterday they will enter Blondie and think she should be allowed to compete with the children since she's only 5 years old.

Meade said he would make a decision on the class later, but said he has already ordered a contestant's cap and badge for Blondie. No one bothered to explain how Blondie was going to go about catching fish, or whether she had any pevious experience.

Cash Box, trade publication for the juke box industry, lists eight country music numbers among its latest top 35 most popular music box tunes. The Cash Box top 60 tunes, compiled from retail sales, lists even more.

What is country music and what is the source of its popularity? Mike Foster of ABC-TV came up with a good description the other day:

"Country music is the only current form of folk music which from the beginnings of this country was the most important form of expression and communication. It was the means by which people could speak of the work they did, he things and places and people they loved, the needs they felt "Country music carries on this

Memorial Grants

NEW YORK (A) - The American Theatre Wing's summer workshop for student performers is being assisted this year by two financial grants in memory of Gertrude Lawrence.

The workshop operates at Dennis, Mass., for 10 weeks. The Wing will use a grant of the Gertrude Lawrence Aldrich Foundation to further the overall study program, and the other fund - given anonymously-as an award to the workshop's outstanding performer.

In pioneer days, it took four days to make the 156-mile trip from St. Paul to Duluth, Minn., and the fare was $75 by open wagon or stage.
